

Please do not allow cell phones to be used on airplanes. It's bad enough we have to listen to them in restaurants, on the street, in elevators, almost everywhere, but on airplanes no one can just get up and leave to get away from people who may be yapping nonstop on cell phones. I find it incredibly annoying to have to listen to these things everywhere I go. Please don't make me an involuntary captive audience.

Also, I thought cell phones could be used to set off bombs. Maybe I'm mistaken, but if not, is this a risk we even want to think about on airplanes?

Thank you.
